

Sally Redman

Sally is an Occupational Therapist with over eight years of experience across a range of clinical areas. In particular, Sally has a passion for assisting consumer's to achieve their goals with the use of assistive technology. Sally has worked at the Medical Aids Subsidy Scheme as a Clinical Advisor throughout 2017, where she has enjoyed providing specialist advice to prescribers of assistive technology. Prior to this, Sally worked at LifeTec Australia, providing specialist advice about assistive technology to consumers and service providers, and assisting consumers with assistive technology choices.

Sally has had extensive experience in developing and delivering education on people handling equipment: patient transfer platforms, hoists (standing, mobile and ceiling) and slings. She has previously delivered education to health professionals surrounding the prescription and use of people handling equipment. Additionally, she has delivered education to service providers on using people handling equipment to reduce manual handling.